

[News]

ISO 9001:2015 Re-Certification – A Commitment to Upholding International Quality Standards

Jakarta, 7 November 2025

ANSS has successfully undergone the ISO 9001:2015 Re-Certification Audit as part of its ongoing commitment to maintaining the highest standards of quality and service excellence.

The audit was conducted by the independent certification body British Standards Institution (BSI), covering various aspects of the company's operations — from documentation systems, risk management, and process effectiveness to customer satisfaction. The audit progressed effortlessly, supported by excellent team collaboration. Every team demonstrating readiness, transparency, and openness to feedback and improvement.

Through this re-certification, ANSS reaffirms its dedication to embedding a strong quality culture across all business lines and to pursuing continuous improvement in delivering superior services to clients and partners.

The contents of this publication include legal updates, transaction or case highlights, activities, awards, news, and legal insights, and are provided solely for educational and informational purposes. ANSS assumes no responsibility for any loss or consequences arising from the use of this information. The use of this site or publication does not create an attorney–client relationship.